LOCAL MISCELLANY.

A LAND AND RENT LEAGUE. THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION ORGANIZING FOR THE

REDUCTION OF RENTS. REDUCTION OF RENTS.

The Central Labor Union met yesterday afternoon at Clarendon Hall. Hugh Grunun, of the Cooper's Union, No. 4, in the chair. Upon motion of Robert Blissert a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of Peter Cooper. When the committee reported that in Peter Cooper the laboring classes had lost a friend who was interested in social and political reform, and whose example ought to be followed, the resolutions were adopted by a standing vote.

Edward King read a letter to the Superintendent of Police, complaining of the arbitrary acts of his men in arresting the striking cigar-makers, and reported that counsel had been employed to defend the men so arrested. T. B. Maguire reported that the committee had examined the plans of Matthew Richardson for increasing the supply of water with the present appliances, and had found them feasible. The Senate Committee on Cities was invited to study these plans.

the present appliances, and had found them feasible. The Senate Committee on Cities was invited to study these plans.

If Mr. John J. Madigan complained of the impossibility of getting labor bills through the Legislarure. Edward King moved that the Central Labor Union should inform that body that it was not interested in any bill now before the Legislature that purported to be in the interest of workingmen. The motion was carried. Mr. King then rose to a question of privilege. He objected to the Central Labor Union's being held responsible for the opinions of its individual members. For himself, he said, he was more radical than the Socialists, "and if any body is afraid of a Socialist he had better keep away from me, as I am three times worse." But while his opinions were his own, it was unjust to ascribe sympathy with them to the Central Labor Union. "As for the individual," he went on, "names are of no account. A man must be judged by the moral purity of his character and of his intentions."

A motion to appoint a committee to form an American Land and Rent League in the interests of a reduction of rents was carried after much discussion. John N. Franklin objected to recognizing rent in any shaps or form, but another delegate pertinently remarked: "What is the use of blinking the fact that rent does exist?" Robert Blissert was of the opinion that rent was as legitimate as wages, eo long as it was not extortionate. Edward King thought it unwise to neglect practical things because of abstract principles, and if good could be done by organizing to reduce rents he was in favor of dorng it. Messrs. Franklin and Blissert were engaging in a cross-fire discussion when a delegate arose and shouted: "Mr. Chairman, I wish you'd shut'em both up and give the house a chance." A roar of laughter followed, and the discussion was at once closed.

SEIZING GAMBLERS AT PLAY.

About 9 o'clock on Saturday night Inspector Thorne, Sergeaut Meekin, Roundsman O'Toole and about twenty-five policemen attached to the Thirteenth Precinct made a descent on the gambling rooms on the ground floor of No. 3 Attorney-st. Before entering, men were stationed at all possible points of escape, and the attack was made at a signal given by the inspector. Games of sweat, fare, red and black, and the envelope game were in progress. All of the inmates were taken into custody, and, with the exception of a few who were admitted to bail by Sergeant Meekin, were incarcerated for the night in the Delancey Street Police Station.

They were all arraigned vesterday in the Essex Market Police Court, and William Robinson, of No. 505 East Forty-fourth-st., as dealer, John Hughes, of No. 170 Mulberry-st., and Augustus Otto. for violating the lottery laws, were each held in $500 bail by Justice Gardner. Twenty-two men, all of whom were apparently mechanics, who were in the room engaged in play, were charged with being disorderly persons. They were represented by counsel, who maintained that their being found in a disorderly house did make them disorderly persons. The Justice held to the contrary, but after considerable argument paroled the men into the custody of counsel until next Sunday, when their cases will be disposed of finally.

FUNERAL OF "MATT" GRACE.

FUNERAL OF "MATT" GRACE.

"Matt" Grace, the keeper of a well-known resort frequented by "sporting" men, who died on Thursday evening, was buried yesterday afternoon from his sister's house at No. 188 Bleecker'st. Throughout the day a stream of people flowed in and out of the room where the dead man lay. Numerous floral offerings had been presented by friends, among them two large broken columns, surmounted by doves; two broken rings, a harp, and several crosses and pillows bearing the words "Matt" and "At Rest." The coffin bore a plain silver plate, inscribed: "Matthew Grace. Died April 5, 1883. Aged 39 years."

A crowd began to gather in the street at noon, and by 2 o'clock some two or three thousand people were assembled. From every window faces looked out, and upon the house-tops persons had gathered. The coffin was carried down-stairs about half-past 2 and placed in the hearse and the procession formed. At the head was an open barouche, drawn by two gray horses, in which were placed the floral emblems. Next came the hearse, preceded by the undertaker, J. J. Slevin, and surrounded by the tweive pall-bearers, who were John L. Sullivan and Mike Gleason, of Boston; "Mike" Cleary, James Grimes, William O'Brien, R. P. Cort, John Mnrphy, Edward Matthews, W. Candee, Bernard Maguire, "Harry" Miner and John Hanrahan. Next came fifty of the dead man's friends on foot, and then thirty-sight carriages containing relatives and others. Among those present were "Joe" Coburn, William Madden, "Green" Targher, "Lohnata" Sannders, the "Hack" carriages containing relatives and then thirty-right those present were "Joe" Coburn, William Madden, "Steve" Taylor, "Johnnie" Saunders, the "Black Diamond," "Frank" Moran, of Boston, and a number of other "sporting" men. The procession moved up through Bleecker-st, to Broadway, down Broadway to Houston-st, thence to Avenue-A, and through Seventh at the life of the control of t Broadway to Houston-st., thence to Avenue-A, and through Seventh-st. to the ferry. The body was buried in Calvary Cemetery.

ARRIVAL OF JULIUS MARCUS.

ARRIVAL OF JULIUS MARCUS.

Detective Slevin, of Inspector Byrnes's squad, arrived here yesterday from Portland. Ore, bringing with him Julius Marcus, the whiskey broker who fled from his creditors in this city on February 25. He first went to San Francisco and thence by steamer to Fortland. He was arrested there on a telegraphic dispatch from Inspector Byrnes, and afterward set at liberty on technical grounds. He remained there, however, making no effort to escape or conceal himself until the arrival of the New-York detective, who arrested him. He returned quietly to this city, and yesterday was closeled with his counsel, Mr. Brodsky. He denies that he has committed any crime, and claims that his transactions with Starkweather & Co., who are prosecuting him, were legal. "The only mistake I made," said he, "was to run away. I made no effort to conceal my identity, and in San Francisco and elsewher registered under my own name. If I wished it I could have gone to British Columbia. My indebtedness altogether does not exceed $10,000." Several orders of arrest are out against him in civil suit.

THIEVES AT PETER COOPER'S FUNERAL.

Among the crowd assembled at the funeral of Peter Cooper, Captain Clincby, of the Eighteenth Precinct, noticed two men who were evidently trying to rob the Rev. James Marshall, of No. 45 East Twenty-Fifth-st. The captain arrested the strangers, who gave their names as Thomas Allen, of No. 122 Henderson-st., Jersey City, and Max Wolf, of No. 124 East Eighth-st. Mr. Marshall had lost his watch, and it was found in Wolf's pocket. The men were arraigned in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday, pleaded not guilty, and were held in $1.000 each for trial.

William Ferguson and James McGuire, said to be professional pickpockets, were arrested on Broadway while the funeral was passing for picking the pocket of a young girl. They were detected by Sergeant Meekim and Detective Leary, who arraigned them in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday. Justice Gardner held the prisoners for trial in default of $1,000 bail each. TWO NEW PASTORS.

The Reformed Dutch Church in West Thirty-fourth-st., near Eighth-ave., has called the Rev. James M. Dickson to its pulpit, and he will enter on his new charge on the first Sunday in May. Mr. Dickson has been paster for the last five years of the Good will Presbyterian Church, of Montgomery, N. Y.

The Pagnic's Church of West Fifteen

The People's Church, at West Fifty-third-st, and Seventh-ave., has recalled its former pastor, the Rev. William H. Pendleton, who has been supplying the pulpit for three months. The Rev. Mr. Pendleton has been preaching in Wakefield, R. I. He was the pastor of the People's Church when it was built ten years ago. Dr. Sampson, the former pastor, has been devoting his time to the college connected with the church, and will continue this connection, while the new pastor will devote himself entirely to evangelistic work.

TO BE USED FOR CHURCH SERVICES. TO BE USED FOR CHURCH SERVICES. Salmi Morse's "Temple of the Passion" will in the future on Sunday atternoons and evenings be occupied by the congregation of the French Reformed Church under the pastorate of the Rev. P. A. Seguin. Mr. Seguin said yesterday that he thought the French speaking people of this city required some place to worship where unvarnished and unsectarian Christianity could be preached. There was no place where an unsectarian Frenchman could now go and worship with men of his own nation and disposition. Frenchmen did not desire to place faith in any sect which made salvation depend on a faith. A French school and fibrary and a home for the reformed priests have been opened at No. 105 Bedford-st.

A MATCH WITH HOMING PIGEONS. Pigeons owned by A. P. Baldwin and George Bond, of the Newark club, were loosed at Harlem yesterday in a race for a wager. Bond's silver, let go at 9.45 a.m., arrived at 11.45 a.m. The start was good, but the wind was almost a gale against the birds course. The distance in an air-line is 14 miles. In a race over the same ground a week ago, Baldwin's pigeon was first and Bond's second. The Hudson Club, of this city, at its last meeting, changed the place of its first race from Port Clinton, Penn., to Hamburg; distance, 104 miles. HOME NEWS.

"I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla one of the best medicine for early spring, when the blood is in a low condition and needs cleansing. I have been benefited by itsuse."-W. H. CURTIS Ticket Agent, B. & M. Railroad, Haverhill, Mass.

A bitter teste, breath offensive, tongue coated, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite, characterize biliousness, which occurs oftener in the spring than at any other season. If this condition is allowed to continue unheeded, serious consequences may follow. By prompt action of Hood's Sarsaparilla a fever may be avoided, or the sowing of seed for a premature death may be prevented. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial and be yourself again. Do it now. Don't wait till you are sick in bed. SPRING-MEDICINE

Is a necessity. Being "housed up" through the winter and breathing the impurities in the atmosphere of rooms heated by wood or coal, and contaminated by the gases they throw off, the vitality of the blood becomes so reduce that it is impossible to withstand the debilitating influence of spring weather; hence that universal need of taxing a reliable blood purifier at this season. The vitalizing effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla upon the entire system render it the most effective spring medicine.

"I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for biliousne and all impurities of the blood. Last spring I was benefited by it."-MRS. J. W. CLEMENT, Franklin, N. H.
